

I chose a picture that was taken 16 years ago, when I was not yet one year old, on my grandfather's birthday. The picture shows me, my two siblings on the left side, my cousin and my grandparents. In this picture, I grabbed my older sister's hair while my grandfather was holding me, so one of my sisters made a surprised face and the other was confused and probably in pain. But I was very happy. Even though I don't remember that day, I still have pictures from that holiday that make me smile. This picture was taken as a memory of this family day. I decided to show this picture because it shows my loved ones and we are all happy and funny in this picture.
